

Fuel Supply by Astemo

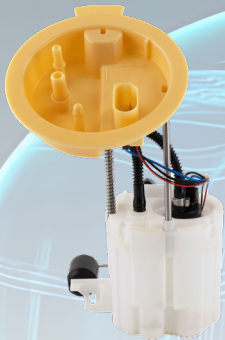

Fuel supply has been a focus at Astemo for decades.

Our customers benefit from our experience for both OEM and IAM. This is reflected in the fact that we offer not only the product itself but also offer essential accessories and product sets as specified by OE. Furthermore, we complement our fuel supply range with product groups such as in-house developed fuel pump control units to complete our product range.

8 different product groups are featured in our current portfolio, which define our fuel supply range. Continuous growth in this important area sets the course for a future-proof product range.
